HOW TO READ THIS REPORT

What the source says

Fact. Quoted from or compiled from the official publication (in Dutch), with a link.

In plain language

Translation. Based only on what the source says.

What does this mean for you?

Assessment. Based on fixed rules, always marked as such. The same goes for the impact score.

This report is a dated snapshot of public, official sources: official notices (KOOP / Overheid.nl), zoning plans (Informatiehuis Ruimte via the DSO) and roadworks (NDW). It is no guarantee that all future developments have been found and it is not legal advice. What the source says is a fact; the translation, the meaning and the impact score are assessments by WatKomtEr. The sources are Dutch, so official titles and quotes stay in Dutch. See the last page.

WHAT THIS REPORT IS AND IS NOT

- Snapshot. This report was created on 11 October 2026, 09:37 with the data the sources provided at that moment (date per source above). Sources are updated daily; anything published afterwards is not included.
- Sources. Official notices from municipalities, provinces and water boards (KOOP / Overheid.nl), zoning plans (Informatiehuis Ruimte via the Digital System for the Environment and Planning Act) and roadworks (NDW). Plans that only exist in other systems, private initiatives not yet applied for and verbal agreements are not visible. The sources are in Dutch; official titles and quotes have not been translated.
- Location. Not all publications have a precise location. The distance is measured to the point, line or area the source gives; for a large area, "at the location" says little about your own street.
- Fact and assessment. "What the source says" is quoted or compiled from the source. "In plain language" is our translation. "What does this mean for you?" and the impact score are assessments based on fixed rules (size, distance, disruption), not facts and not a prediction.
- No advice. This report is not legal, structural or financial advice and does not replace research by an estate agent, notary, lawyer or the municipality. Reading this report does not automatically mean that any statutory duty to investigate has been met.
